SNARE ART

Mounted collection

2023

SNARE Art mounted pieces are made from 100% recycled snare material which was used by poachers to kill African wildlife. The base is made from invasive exotic wood removed from Africa's natural areas. These pieces make exquisite decorative art pieces or unique trophies. Each mounted piece comes with a certificate of authenticity listing the area from which the snares used were collected as well as the number of snares used to complete the piece. By purchasing a SNARE Art mounted piece, not only are you playing a role in protecting Africa's magnificent wildlife, but you are also assisting in the development of local underprivileged African artists. In an attempt to ensure our pieces are as environmentally friendly as possible, we make use of paint recycled from factories that are discarding them due to container or color inconsistencies. Therefore, in addition to the below available colors, we provide a "surprise" option where we choose a unique color for your piece according to available shades.
